Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

Dear Sir/Madam,

Please reconsider your proposal of a flat fee tax increase. We have two teenage sons that are fairly new drivers with cell phones, my husband's phone and our phone at home. We use all of these minimally, but it is a great comfort to us to know if our boys have trouble on the road they can call for help. It concerns me that small accounts are being asked to carry the financial burden of larger businesses.

It would seem fair to base your fees on size of account or usage.

Thank you for reading more concerns.

Keep the USF Fair!
